

Exercise Seven

---

7.1 A comma separated file called sales.txt is in the c:\course directory. It consists of a large number of rows with the following 'sets' of data ...

Number ... represents the Sales invoice number

Date ... the date of the transaction

Number ... the quantity sold

Text ... the description of the product

Number (2 decimal places) ... the price of the product

Note: You may have to create a Directory for c:\course

Create an external table called ex_sales which incorporates the above columns ..